Some one was asking about our dear little dove, which has done so much good in predicting and announcing weddings in our locality and adjoining localities, and was always willing to accompany the bride and groom on their wedding tour, and sing songs of peace and happiness, which by its sweet song would make sunshine and drive away gloom while sailing on the sea of matrimony. We feel proud of our dove, from the fact that it is an emblem of love. We recollect that the Holy Spirit came down in the form of a dove, when John the baptist was baptizing our Savior in the river Jordan. And the words were announced from heaven "this is my beloved son, in whom I am well pleased." We would advise anyone in buying a dove, to select one with a clear sweet voice, so that the singing of the dove all along the pathway of life may happily your hours in sorrow and grief, and cause sunshine to illuminate by its radiant way of life.

Laurelvile Route 1

EDITOR DEMOCRAT-SENTINEL:—

I started out on Route No. 1, Laurelvile, with head up and full of enthusiasm. I had purchased me a new summer hat of the "Merry Widow" effect. In fact it was my Easter hat, and a perfect dream. Weather very raw and cold. The sun had not shown itself for three or four days, and it occurred to me that if I could get an "attractive" and "fashionable" hat I might attract the sun and it would bring on good weather, but alas, I acted adversely.

Well, I started out of town and up Laurel, twirling my umbrella and whistling like a jaybird. I was just as gay as a bird could be, and I had a right to be, for I was successful at almost every home along the route. By noon I had got as far as Mary A. Stump's, where I got my dinner. I am almost constrained to believe that they saw me coming and especially prepared a dinner. At any rate they had just what I wanted, and how I did eat. The little ones were simply paralyzed at the sight. They had often seen people eat with one hand but when they saw me mowing it back with both hands they just stopped eating and looked. There was everything that heart could wish and plenty of it, and I want to say that I enjoyed it. After dinner, and after the little ones had partially recovered from the shock and were able to say good bye and wish me success, I started out on the route. I had just as good success in the afternoon as I had in the forenoon. They all were anxious for the DEMOCRAT-SENTINEL, and they all got it. The afternoon was cold, raw and very disagreeable, and I was only too glad when I reached Nick Bowers'. I knew that I'd receive a hearty welcome, and I did. Not only did Mr. and Mrs. Bowers bid me welcome, but Miss Gladys, the handsome little two year old daughter, was just as cordial in her welcome. She and I were soon fast friends. We sang songs and played games until supper was ready, which was so appetizing that we both spent an hour at the table. It is no use for me to particularize in regard to the victuals, for everyone who has been fortunate enough to have had a place at Bowers' table, well know that the only way to describe it is to say "everything" and prepared in the right way. I had a pleasant, social evening and the old fashioned hospitality. I was in unusually fine feather the next morning, could crow louder and step higher than a Shanghai rooster, the kind that grow so tall. I left with Mr. and Mrs. Bowers' best wishes for success. I cut along the route with good success, notwithstanding the very disagreeable weather, until I reached J. E. Whistler's, just over Moccasin in Fairfield county, where I was fortunate enough to get a good dinner. After dinner I struck out, up Moccasin on the Hocking county side, until I came to Charles Julian's, where I turned up over the ridge and canvassed that part that lay in Hocking county. I had good success all along the line, and had the weather been good would have had a most delightful trip. As it was, I knocked along until I reached the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Fox, where I was invited to spend the night, and of course I accepted.

Mrs. Fox greeted me considerably about my Easter bonnet, thought it was rushing the season. I told her I never wore my straw hat until after the farmers had begun to plant corn, and as I had seen several planting I thought I was justified and safe in venturing. Mrs. Fox gave me unusually pleasant entertainment, not only was I more than abundantly supplied with necessary physical wants, but was brilliantly entertained in a social way. She was very profuse in her comments on the DEMOCRAT-SENTINEL as an official organ, and paid very pleasant compliments to the office staff. Mrs. Fox is a pleasant, accommodating and accomplished woman, and has a very pleasant way of making you at home and at ease.

In the morning there was about six inches of snow on the ground and was blowing and snowing to beat the band. My Easter bonnet was out of season. Maybe Mr. and Mrs. Fox didn't give me a beautiful gayer. They offered to loan me a winter bonnet and overcoat which I was forced to decline. Their jolly good bye and wishes gave me encouragement, which I very much needed, and lighting my pipe and hoisting my parachute I hit the famous Hocking soft clay-pipe pike. One feature about our Hocking county ridge pikes, and a very pleasant one, is that if you fall you have a good soft place to light, you may get a little wet but you are assured of no broken bones. I cut it just as rapidly as I could. It was windy, it was slushy, it was wet. The snow was melting about as fast as it fell, and when I got as far as Chambers' hollow I struck a run that led to Moccasin. There was just enough valley to all the run and road, and the run was the proudest and most active I have ever seen. I must have crossed it twenty times at least before I reached Moccasin. Just before I got to Moccasin I stopped in with L. C. Hampshire, for a rest, and had a very pleasant talk. Brother Hampshire is an old Benton township man, and we had a very pleasant, but short conversation about "old times." He showed me an old stone pitcher, hand-made and brush glazed, made by Jonathan Edgington in 1800, and is 108 years old. The pitcher is in as good condition as the day it was turned, not a crack or nick discernable. It is, if anything, a little heavier than the wares of today. After I left Mr. Hampshire's I soon reached Moccasin, which was rapidly raising. I had to wade the creek twice before I reached Laurelvile, and it was considerably over my high water shoes. I was cold and wet when I reached Hotel DeFloyd but a good hot water bath, straightened me up and made me feel like a fighting cock. In my stay in Laurelvile I secured, including routes 1 and 2, the following new ones: T. E. Stump, J. F. Armstrong, H. N. Armstrong, L. W. Herron, Mrs. Nancy DeHaven, Lon Pennell, Wm. Hale, G. N. Dumm, Samuel Hoy, Joseph Fetherolf, Simeon Hoy, Liberty Jinks, Lew McClelland, J. D. Shaw, Clifford Dorsey, Emory Stevenson, George Strous, Zeldra R. Ebert, Alex Martin, Andy Metler, W. F. Olentangy Park.

The famous Ellery Band, consisting of fifty noted union Italian musicians, is creating a decided sensation at Olentangy Park, Columbus, Ohio, where it is playing a series of high class concerts in the big theater. Mons. and Mme. Bernard Begue, two noted operatic soloists from the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York, have joined the band, and render vocal selections of unusual merit at each concert. The band will remain at the Park during the entire month of May, but will give way to Mrs. Fiske and the Manhattan Company who will appear in the Park Theater in "Rosmersholm" on Friday and Saturday, May 22 and 23.

This is a notable engagement, as it will be the first appearance of Mrs. Fiske and her company in any summer theater. Extra dressing rooms and reception rooms have been added to Olentangy's magnificent theater building, and a complete system of electric heating has been installed so as to make the theater perfectly comfortable in any kind of weather.

The engagement of Mrs. Fiske is the beginning of a plan to have the big independent attractions, which have been barred from Columbus down-town theaters by the theatrical trust, appear at Olentangy, and arrangements are now being made to book these attractions for the fall and winter season at Olentangy Theater.

All the numerous amusements at Olentangy are now open including the big dancing pavilion, the new Loop-the-Loop, Infant Incubator and Motion Picture Exhibit, and two other new features are being installed this week.

Olentangy appears to be determined to maintain its reputation of offering more and better amusements than any other resort in the country, and is surpassing all former efforts this year.

Just One Half Dozen Good Things That the Rain Has Done for Us.

It has cleaned up the sewers, streets and alleys by flushing them as no artificial means could do.

The wet, rainy weather has prevented destructive frosts that would surely have come with the very cold nights.

The rain and cool weather have prevented a premature budding of many kinds of vegetation that might have suffered through untimely weather conditions later.

The rain has softened the ground and stirred up moisture for plant life that will be of great benefit later when things are very dry.

Creeks and small streams have been cleaned out and stagnant water has been sent swirling and bubbling to great streams, which means a better bill of health for the future.

Last, but not least, it will make every one appreciate the beautiful weather when it does come, and it has carried every one over the spring-fever period in safety.

Are On Return Trip.

(Pomeroy Democrat.)

A letter from C. E. Peoples, received Sunday, and written on April 2, said that himself and Mrs. Peoples, their son, E. W., and his family, would start on the return trip for home on May 2—just one year from the date of their leaving Pomeroy. They will sail on the German line steamer York, and will come by way of Suez canal and Gibraltar, thus circling the earth in the journey. They will reach New York about the first of July.

Their return is somewhat hurried because of a dreadful epidemic of smallpox in Manila, which is resulting fatally to many who contract it. Many Americans are arranging to get away as soon as possible.

Kerns Charged with Killing Flannigan near Adelphia is Caught.

(Chillicothe Gazette.)

Ernest Kerns who fatally injured George Flannigan near Laurelvile the afternoon of August 10, 1905, by crushing his head with a brick, from the effects of which Flannigan died, Sunday night, October 17, 1905, was captured at Crown Point, Indiana, Monday, and brought to Circleville yesterday by Sheriff Schleich and Chief of Police Sheets, and placed in the county jail to answer to the charge of manslaughter.

Recently Chief of Police Sheets learned of Kerns' whereabouts and notified Prosecuting Attorney Gerhardt, who after securing the requisition papers from Governor Harris, sent the officers after the prisoner. Kerns has been living in Indiana under the name of Albert Baker, and married a Miss Cobb, of Crown Point, about a year ago, and they have a baby three weeks old. Mrs. Kerns knew nothing of her husband's past. He was a teamster and after his arrest begged to be allowed to see his wife, but the officials refused.

The trouble occurred at a reunion of the Mowery, Bowsher, DeLong and Reichelderfer families, which was being held in a grove near the Stump church.

Flannigan had gone to the grounds with Mrs. Ridenour, wife of the prosecuting attorney of Lima, who was visiting at the home of young Flannigan's parents.

In company with the chauffeur Flannigan came down a lane where a number of horses were hitched. Kerns had been drinking and he and Flannigan got into a dispute because he could not find his horse and he became abusive, claiming it had frightened at the automobile and ran away.

In a fight which ensued Kerns got a sound thrashing and Flannigan released him after he said he had "enough." When Flannigan got back into the automobile Kerns threw a brick at him, crushing his skull. The injured man was hurried to Laurelvile and received medical treatment and later was operated on by Chillicothe physicians. He lingered between life and death until October 15, when he died.

Kerns escaped on the evening of the day he assaulted Flannigan. A warrant for his arrest was made out by the justice of the peace of Salter Creek township, and officers from this city, learning that he was hiding in the hills around Hallsville went to that vicinity but were unable to locate him. At the November term 1905, Kerns was indicted for manslaughter.

Mrs. Joshua Chilcote.

Martha A. Davis was born in Washington Township, Hocking county, Ohio, August 13th, 1838, and departed this life at South Bloomington, Ohio, May 3, 1908. Aged 69 years, 8 months and 20 days.

She was united in marriage to Joshua Chilcote Oct. 30, 1856. To this union were born 9 children, 5 sons and four daughters. Her husband two daughters preceded her to the Spirit world, and she leaves to mourn, 5 sons, 2 daughters, 1 brother, 1 sister and many friends.

During middle age she united with the M. E. Church at South Bloomington. For twelve years past she has been a great sufferer and has been unable to be absent from home except as she was aided by her friends.

She was a kind neighbor, loving wife and affectionate mother and her departure will never be filled, but will be much missed by her neighbors, friends and family.

CARD OF THANKS.

The friends of the deceased wish to extend their many thanks to their neighbors and friends who lent a helping hand during the last affliction, death and burial of their mother.

The funeral services were held at the Bloomington M. E. Church, Tuesday afternoon of this week, Rev. R. A. Blair officiating. The church was beautifully decorated in honor of the respect in which deceased was held by the neighbors, and the edifice filled with friends and relatives. Interment in the Bloomington cemetery.

If any one has any doubt as to the virtue of Foley's Kidney Cure, they need only to refer to Mr. Alvin H. Stimpson, of Williamette, Conn., who, after almost losing hope of recovery, on account of the failure of so many remedies, finally tried Foley's Kidney Cure, which he says was "just the thing" for him, as four bottles cured him completely. He is now entirely well and free from all the suffering incident to acute kidney trouble. Bort & Co.
